VISITORS GUIDE

Welcome to Stephenville

Welcome to Stephenville, Texas – Home of Tarleton State University and the Cowboy Capital of the World. An inclusive community for all where everyone's invited. From the moment you pass the city limits sign to stepping foot on our historic downtown square, you'll feel welcome and greeted in true Texas fashion. We invite you to make yourself at home, explore our community and enjoy our warm Stephenville welcome.

Our Beginning

The story of Stephenville begins at the Alamo. The surviving families of those who died during the battles of the Texas revolution were awarded land grants by the Republic of Texas government. John Blair, a friend of Jim Bowie, was one of those who gave his life in the battle of the Alamo. His land included what would later become Erath County. The Blair family sold this section of land to John M. Stephen.

In May of 1855, George B. Erath, a surveyor, accompanied John Stephen and a group of 30 pioneers. Among the pioneers on the trip was Thomas Arendell, who built the first log cabin in Stephenville, as well as Dr. W.W. McNeill, who would become the first doctor and pharmacist in this part of the country. About this time Stephen made an agreement that he would donate the land for his fellow settlers, for a courthouse to be built on the square, and for churches to be established. It was under this condition the town of Stephenville would be officially designated as the county seat of Erath County. The State of Texas agreed, and in 1856, the county and county seat became official.
